How we promote British Values at Littleton Green Community School

How we promote 'democracy'

- We have elected Pupil Guardians. This is used as an opportunity to promote and teach about democracy and the electoral process.
- We encourage children to volunteer in and out of school – these include Sports Leaders and Guardians
- The beginnings of democracy are taught through historical research of the Ancient Greece civilisation.
- Pupil Ambassadors attend Governor's meeting in order to contribute to school policy and represent pupil voice.
- Democracy is also promoted through additional PSHE lessons and assemblies and the history curriculum.
- Children are taught about democracy through the British Values class assemblies and Guardian groups.
- Guardians attend the School's Dinner Forum to contribute to decision regarding the makeup of school meals.
- The 'I am P.U.R.P.L.E' value of being empowered supports the British value of democracy.

How we promote 'the rule of law'

- We have high expectations about pupil conduct and this is reflected in our Behaviour Policy. There are rewards for exhibiting good and caring behaviour and consistent demonstration of our 'I Am Purple' values is recognised through events such as weekly awards. There are also consequences for not adhering to school expectations identified in the Behaviour Policy.
- Through our school assemblies, circle time and PSHE, children are taught how to earn trust and respect and are supported to develop a strong sense of morality; knowing right from wrong and doing the right thing even when it's difficult.
- The local PCSO visit the school to talk to the children and explain about their role in society.
- Children are taught about the rule of law through the British Values and Picture News assemblies.
- The 'I am P.U.R.P.L.E' values of being reflective and proud support the British value of the rule of law

How we promote 'individual liberty'

- Through our school values and PSHE, children are taught about personal responsibility, choices, ambition and aspiration. They are encouraged to take opportunities to follow their interests in art, music, sport etc.
- Children are taught how to keep themselves safe, including on-line. This is done through computing lessons, assemblies and outside organisations such as the NSPCC, as well as through the PSHE interwoven throughout the curriculum.
- Children are given the freedom to make choices (for example choosing challenges in class, selecting from a wide range of extra-curricular clubs etc.)
- Children are given the right to contribute to their own school report by evaluating their own attitude towards writing, reading, maths, attendance, punctuality, behaviour, effort and values, homework and uniform.
- Weekly Guardian groups, help pupils understand the need for responsibilities as well as rights.
- The 'I am P.U.R.P.L.E' values of being unique and positive supports the British value of individual liberty

How we promote mutual respect'

- We have high expectations about pupil conduct and this is reflected in our Behaviour Policy and Equality Policy.
- Children are taught about the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child and learn to respect their rights and the rights of others.
- Through our school's values and Guardian Groups, children are taught to respect each other, to be cooperative and collaborative, be supportive and to look for similarities while being understanding of differences.
- Mutual respect is also promoted through additional PSHE lessons and assemblies.
- A range of specific assemblies are delivered focusing on helping other pupils to understand specific special needs.
- Children learn that their actions have an effect on their own and others' rights.

- Children are taught about different faiths and beliefs through the British Values class assemblies.
- The 'I am P.U.R.P.L.E' value of being loving supports the British value of mutual respect.

How we promote 'tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs.'

- Through our Behaviour Policy and Equality Opportunities Policy
- Tolerance of different faiths and beliefs is promoted through the Syllabus for Religious Education. Children learn about different religions, their beliefs, places of worship and festivals. The children's work on this subject or whole school learning in assemblies is often displayed in the classrooms or around the school.
- This is supplemented by assemblies and Guardian Groups, which also mark and celebrate significant religious festivals such as Ramadan and Diwali.
- Visits are made by local religious leaders and children have the opportunity to visit places of worship.
- Children are taught about tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs through the British Values class assemblies.
- The 'I am P.U.R.P.L.E' value of being loving supports the British value of tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs.
